10 tips
Nutrition Education Series

add more vegetables to your day

10 tips to help you eat more vegetables

It's easy to eat more vegetables! Eating vegetables is important because they provide vitamins and minerals and most are low in calories. To fit more vegetables in your meals, we're encouraging them as snacks as well, not just meals.

1 discover fast ways to cook
Cook fresh or frozen vegetables in the microwave for a quick-and-easy dish to add to any meal. Steam green beans, carrots, or broccoli in a bowl with a small amount of water in the microwave for a quick side dish.

2 be ahead of the game
Cut up a batch of bell peppers, carrots, or broccoli. Pre-package them to use when time is limited. You can enjoy them on a salad, with a hummus dip, or in a veggie wrap.

3 choose vegetables rich in color
Brighten your plate with vegetables that are red, orange, or dark green. They are full of vitamins and minerals. Try acorn squash, cherry tomatoes, sweet potatoes, or collard greens. They not only taste great but also are good for you, too.

4 check the freezer aisle
Frozen vegetables are quick and easy to use and are just as nutritious as fresh veggies. Try adding frozen vegetables, such as corn, peas, green beans, or spinach to your favorite dish. Look for frozen vegetables without added sauces, gravies, butter, or cream.

5 stock up on veggies
Canned vegetables are a great addition to any meal, so keep on hand canned tomatoes, kidney beans, garbanzo beans, mushrooms, and beets. Select those labeled as "reduced sodium," "low sodium," or "no salt added."

6 make your garden salad glow with color
Brighten your salad by using colorful vegetables such as black beans, sliced red bell peppers, shredded radishes, chopped red cabbage, carrots, or watercress. Your salad will not only look good but taste good, too.

7 sip on some vegetable soup
Heat it and eat it. Try tomato, butternut squash, or garden vegetable soup. Look for reduced- or low-sodium soups. Make your own soups with a low-sodium broth and your favorite vegetables.

8 while you're out
If dinner is away from home, no need to worry. When ordering, ask for an extra side of vegetables or side salad instead of the typical fried side dish. Ask for toppings and dressings on the side.

9 savor the flavor of seasonal vegetables
Buy vegetables that are in season for maximum flavor at a lower cost. Check your local supermarket specials for the best-in-season buys. Or visit your local farmer's market.

10 try something new
Choose a new vegetable that you've never tried before. Find recipes online at www.WhatsCooking.fns.usda.gov.

Native American Student Union

EMU South | 1228 University of Oregon | Eugene, OR 97403-1228
asuonasu@uoregon.edu |

Dear Burns Paiute Tribe,

The Native American Student Union will be holding our 48th Annual Mother's Day Powwow on May 6th and May 7th, 2016 at MacArthur Court at the University of Oregon. Our community Salmon Bake will also be Sunday May 8th, 2016 at the Many Nations Longhouse located at 1630 Colombia Street in Eugene. All events are free and open to the public and we encourage everyone to attend.

As you may know this is our biggest and most important event that we fundraise and plan year-round to honor our University of Oregon graduates and our mothers on Mother's Day. This event is important to students because traditional Native American powwows give the community an opportunity to gather and celebrate Native American culture.

Every year we fundraise over $10,000 just to pay for expenses such as: food, advertising, space, lodging, apparel, and Mother's Day gifts. This total does not take into account the money that we fundraise to provide Pendleton blankets to our graduating student members and our dancer categories.

Last year we were able to give away nearly $5000 for dancer competition and participation thanks to our donors. This year we hope to raise even more so we can include Teen and Junior categories in the Powwow. We would like to ask sponsors to support the powwow dances: Golden Age; Traditional; Fancy; Men's Grass; Women's Jingle; and finally the Teens and Junior Categories (see attached sheet and brochure for category breakdowns and prize money).

NASU needs your help to fundraise at least $8,000 cash to sponsor all of our dancer competitions. Can you give a donation of up to $300 dollars to help us meet our goal? We are also seeking local business gift cards or raffle items for our auction. Is your business able to contribute to this auction? In return for donations, your gift is tax-deductible and NASU will include your name or logo in all of our programs, flyers and promotional materials. Sponsors will also be recognized during the event for making the 48th Mother's Day Powwow a success. Last year, we had more than one thousand people in attendance to reach out to about your sponsorship. Help us make this year an even grander experience for your advertisement.

Please make checks out to Eva Murtaugh, the fundraising chair for this year, by May 5th, 2016. The Mother's Day Powwow honors our cultural heritage and celebrates the mothers in our community. Thank you for your support of Native cultures and traditions!

*Please note, category sponsorships cannot be used with department funds (state funds) or other student I-fee funds. Category sponsorship comes from individuals giving money from their own pocket and check books. Should you have any questions, please contact us at asuonasu@uoregon.edu.

Thank you for giving generously,

Eva Murtaugh

Climate Change Vulnerability Assessment for the Upper Snake River Watershed

The climate around the Upper Snake River is changing. Tribal members have already noticed these changes through shifts in precipitation patterns, increasing temperatures, and shifts in species and habitats. To better understand these changes, the Upper Snake River Tribes (USRT) Foundation is collaborating with its member tribes and climate change experts complete a collaborative climate change vulnerability assessment (CCVA).

Project Collaborators include:

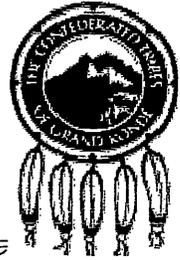

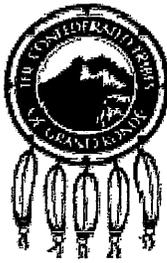

USRT Tribal Partners:	Climate Change Experts:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Shoshone-Paiute Tribe • Shoshone-Bannock Tribe • Ft. McDermitt Paiute-Shoshone Tribe • Burns-Paiute Tribe 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Adaptation International • Climate Impacts Group • Oregon Climate Change Research Institute

The information gathered during the CCVA will ultimately lead to adaptation strategies to help our member tribes successfully minimize the negative effects of climate change, while also taking advantage of any positive opportunities. Participation by tribal leadership, membership, and staff, will be key to the success of this CCVA and all future actions on climate change.

This assessment is tribally-focused, expressly looking at species, habitats, resources, and enterprises that are important and valuable to tribal members. Climate change impacts to these resources have the potential to affect tribal members' culture, spirituality, and livelihoods.

For more information on the CCVA project, please contact USRT Environmental Program Director: Scott Hauser (208) 995-4872 and/or scott.hauser@usrtf.org
