Burns Paiute Tribe

INTRODUCTION:

The Constitution and Bylaws of the Burns Paiute Colony was adopted on May 16, 1968. The Constitution and Bylaws created the General Council, a body consisting of all qualified voters (i.e., tribal members 18 years of age or older who live on the reservation or are absentee voters). The General Council meets twice a year for deliberation and voting on matters of importance.

The General Council also nominates and elects a seven-person tribal council to handle the day-to-day affairs of the tribe. The tribal council meets several times a month, and council members serve three-year terms. The tribal council was created by an amendment to the Constitution and Bylaws in 1988; the council replaced a five-member business council. The council consists of a chair, vice-chair, secretary, sergeant at arms, and three members at large.

SCOPE OF WORK:

The Tribe requests proposals from individual attorneys and law firms interested in serving as the Tribe's Prosecutor on a part-time, contractual basis, for a two or three-year term beginning no later than July 1, 2021 (possibly earlier upon the mutual agreement of the parties). The Prosecutor will handle criminal cases, Indian Child Welfare cases, and certain other civil matters in the Burns Paiute Tribal Court ("Court"). The Tribe anticipates that the workload will require, on average, approximately 8 to 10 hours of legal services per month, although this could vary depending on the number and nature of cases being handled at any given time. (Travel time was not included in this estimate. The proposer should estimate travel time per their own situation.)

The Court is located on the Burns Paiute Reservation in Burns, Oregon. The Court was established by Article X of the Tribe's Constitution and operates in accordance with the Tribe's Judiciary Act. A Court of Appeals handles appeals from the Tribal Court. All judges are law trained. The Tribe directly employs a part-time Court Administrative Clerk. All attorneys appearing before the Court must be admitted to practice in the Burns Paiute Tribal Court. Court is currently held one day per month, typically on the third Friday of the month.

The Prosecutor's contract will be managed by the Tribal Council, but the Prosecutor will operate generally independently, with appropriate respect for the Prosecutor's prosecutorial discretion. The Tribe requests proposals from qualified individuals interested in serving as the Tribe's Prosecutor on a part-time, contractual basis, for a two-year term. (possibly earlier upon the mutual agreement of the parties).

The successful respondent will, in accordance with the highest legal, ethical and professional standards, provide at the direction of designated Tribal officials and staff, prosecutorial services including but not limited to the following services:

- 1) Represent the Tribe as its Prosecutor in criminal cases, Indian Child Welfare cases, and certain other civil cases (e.g., forfeiture cases), to enforce the Tribe's laws. ☐ Appear in court for all related court proceedings.
- 2) Engage in or lead pre-trial investigations.
- 3) Evaluate and research cases, decide whether to charge and/or appeal cases, and prepare and prosecute all cases the Prosecutor decides to file.
- 4) Prepare and file appropriate pleadings and motions of good quality in Tribal Court. ☐ Ensure compliance with all judgments and sentences of the Tribal Court and the procedural requirements of the Tribe's laws.
- 5) Advise the Tribal Police regarding the handling of criminal cases (including on nights/weekends/holidays as necessary).
- 6) Advise the Tribe's Indian Child Welfare department regarding the handling of Indian Child Welfare cases (including on nights/weekends/holidays as necessary).
- 7) Recommend to the Tribal Attorney appropriate revisions and amendments to the Tribe's laws and policies relevant to the types of cases the Prosecutor handles.
- 8) Meet with the Tribal Attorney and Tribal Council when requested. ☐ Prepare reports as assigned, including periodic summaries of accomplishments, ongoing challenges, and recommendations, as well as prospective plans and budgets.
- 9) Comply with all applicable laws, policies, rules, procedures, and professional and ethical standards.
